A parent involvement committee of a board shall achieve its purpose by,

(a) providing information and advice on parent engagement to the board;

(b) communicating with and supporting school councils of schools of the board; and

(c) undertaking activities to help parents of pupils of the board support their children's learning at home and at school. O. Reg. 612/00, s. 27 (2).

Toronto CPIC returned to the Catholic Education Centre for the 2022/2023 school year, in person meetings had resumed. We continued to focus on creating awareness of the purpose of the CPIC. We continued to support and build relationships with our CSPCs and elevate the role of the CSPC Chair during CPIC elections. We continued to live stream all CPIC meetings on YouTube for CSPCs and parents to watch and follow.

Toronto CPIC continues to carry forward a surplus of funds. The two years of the pandemic did contribute to this greatly. Going into the 2022/2023 school year a drawdown budget was formulated however not fulfilled. Our expenses this year were lower than average from previous years. We continue to look for opportunities to bring training to our members and CSPCs and to bring vital parenting information to all our TCDSB parents.

Returning to in person meeting from virtual only meetings meant the Committee revisited how to find balance between convenience and opportunity to engage with one another. Virtual meetings did allow ease of joining meetings but being in person created a different atmosphere. At our first in person meeting, the Inaugural Meeting on November 14, 2022, the energy in the room was amazing. Seeing all these parent volunteers around the table ready to get to work was quite a sight. In order to find balance, the committee made the decision to reduce our annual number of regular meetings to 7, which included 4 in person meetings and 3 virtual meetings. We continue to evaluate the efficiency of this new meeting structure and make changes if required.

Going forward Toronto CPIC will continue to fulfill its purpose – to support, encourage and enhance parent engagement at the Board level in order to improve student achievement and well-being. We have always faced challenges, in recent years the pandemic, losing the Recording Secretary and more recently the loss of the Parent Engagement Coordinator, a role that sat on Toronto CPIC since its inception.

But volunteer parents always find a way. Over my 10 years of being involved in parent engagement I have been witness to and been part of the "grit" that volunteer parents show, the perseverance and tenacity to get the job done. Giving of their time and usually sacrificing time with their children and family to find a way so that all TCDSB students can be better positioned. These volunteer parents understand the impact of parent engagement and understand that not every parent can, so they pick up the slack. Toronto CPIC will continue to do more so that our volunteer parents are in better positions too. They truly are giving of this gift of service for the students of the TCDSB.

Thank you,

Joe Fiorante, Toronto CPIC Chair

CPIC Recommendations

A board may solicit and take into consideration the advice of its parent involvement committee with regard to matters that relate to improving student achievement and well-being. O. Reg. 612/00, s. 47 (1)

1. In discussing how the beginning of a school year can contribute to parent engagement with the simple forming of a relationship between the teacher and parent around the student, the following recommendation was made regarding Start of School Year Communications and Introductions to Parents

Whereas:

- i. We want to engage parents, especially during the new school year and when they are new to the school or new teachers have joined the staff
- ii. Other school Boards (example Mon Avenir) have engagement strategies that see every teacher following a template introducing themselves, the expected learning goals, any classroom special considerations and contact information
- iii. Waiting for Curriculum Night for first interaction is often weeks away
- iv. Parent Involvement & Engagement should start as soon as possible on a positive note.

That CPIC refer to the Director of Education to consider strategies and consistency for start of school introductions from teachers starting in 2023/2024.

Thank You

On behalf of CPIC and TCDSB, I would like to thank each one of our Committee Members for the giving of their time, their leadership and their voice they provided throughout the 2022/2023 school year. I am aware we all sacrificed time with our families at some point and believe you did so for the greater good.

Good luck to all members who will be running in the October elections for their wards.

Thank you to all the Catholic School Parent Councils, Parents, Community Organizations, Trustees and TCDSB staff that supported CPIC throughout the year. Working together we can achieve our goals.

Special thank you to Manuel Sequera and Carla Marchetti, the Parent Engagement Coordinators/CPIC Liaison Officers for the Toronto CPIC since the inception of this statutory committee. The invaluable support and resources provided by these two amazing board staff helped CPIC continue to fulfill its purpose.
